

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please amend the paragraph beginning on page 2, line 27, as follows:

--If one wants to use the "shortcut" concept to manage data stored in the computer, he still has to create shortcuts on the desktop by himself. The OS cannot automatically ~~sets~~set shortcuts for all data files. In other words, the user still has to learn the previously mentioned concepts of "file", "path", and "folder" before he can use the "shortcut" concept to manage computer data. This is still unable to increase the beginner's efficiency in using the computer. Furthermore, if each data file in the computer has to have a shortcut, the computer display screen can be a mess to the user. It is of no use for data management.--